

Homeopathic Journal - Homeopathy for Everyone

Vol. 17, Issue 2, 2020 Feb

Editorial – Corona Virus

- Alan V. Schmukler

We are all facing a great challenge now with the unfolding of COVID 19. Government agencies state that there is no vaccine or medicine to prevent it and no specific treatment. We know better. Homeopaths everywhere are seeking the genus remedies and we already have tentative suggestions about what those may be.

In this issue we report on the current findings of homeopaths around the world. The Indian government has suggested Arsenicum 30. Dr. Manish Bhatia finds Bryonia and Lycopodium likely choices, and he mentions other important remedies. Dr. Aditya Kasariyans shares case reports from Iran, which are analyzed by Dr. Rajan Sankaran, who finds the genus for those cases to be Camphora. Isaac Golden, a contemporary pioneer in homoeo prophylaxis (HP), suggests a combination of nosodes and genus epidemic remedies. It is possible that Covid 19 will manifest somewhat differently depending on location.

Remember that homeopathy has a proven track record of preventing disease, whether it be bacterial or viral. It has protected people from polio, smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, meningococcal meningitis, leptospirosis and various influenzas. Homeopathic remedies have successfully treated virtually every epidemic disease that occurred over the last 200 years, including the 1918 influenza pandemic. Treating this disease will require keen observation but if we remain calm, and work as a community, we will be able to reason it through. Most importantly, we will have a means of prevention that will become clear as more cases are evaluated.

There will be the usual critics, but they are simply misinformed. The bottom line is, homeopathy is effective, safe and cheap and doesn't interfere with other treatments. In a situation where there is no other proven alternative, it is illogical not to use it.

To those in the Pharmaceutical industry, who know homeopathy works and have been trying to sabotage it, this is a good time to rethink your plan. If you could put away your greed and support homeopathy, you might save your own life and your loved ones, along with countless millions.

Homeopathy has worked for 200 years and is based on sound principles that are timeless. That is why we dedicate ourselves to it.